

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electronic device. The device includes a body, a rotating member, a first display, and a sensor. The rotating member is rotatably connected to the body. The rotating member has first and second surfaces. The first display is disposed 5 on the first surface of the rotating member. The sensor is disposed on the second surface of the rotating member, and allows capture of images from multiple angles when the rotating member is rotated.